In-text citations for shared sources:

For the purposes of this paper, when citing sources listed in this guide, you may provide an abbreviated form of the title (see list below) and the page number(s) from which you quote or paraphrase.

Sources you locate yourself using research databases such as Academic Search Complete or the library catalog must use proper citation format.

Encyclopedia Judaica

Example: This is my paraphrase (Encyclopedia Judaica, “Entry Title,” 25).

Oxford Dictionary of the Jewish Religion

Example: This is the text of my paraphrase (Oxford Dictionary of the Jewish Religion, “Entry Title,” 25).

Anchor Bible Commentary Series

Example: This is the text of my paraphrase (Anchor, name of biblical book, 25).

Works cited page for shared sources:

Acceptable citations for the purposes of this paper, for sources listed in this guide, are listed below.

Sources you locate yourself using research databases such as Academic Search Complete or the library catalog must use proper citation format.

Note that for each volume, the volume title, editor, and, in some cases publication information will be changed from this example.

All other sources to be cited:

The citation assistant I recommend is the NCSU Citation Builder. Find it at https://www.lib.ncsu.edu/citationbuilder/.